

Brief Biodiversity Study for Lidl

Planning is underway for a new Lidl supermarket in Männedorf. In the context of the project, we examined the potential for promoting biodiversity on the development site and also proposed appropriate measures. We documented our findings and compiled them in a short report.

Our services

- Surveying the existing biodiversity (flora, fauna and habitats) at the development site based on plans and an on-site inspection
- Drafting proposals for measures to promote biodiversity as part of the construction project
- Documenting the results in a short report
- Maintaining contact and coordination with the architectural firm in charge
